

Treetop Advantage

Imagine you're standing in a red-tailed hawk nest!

From high perches, hawks can search for their next meal—a rabbit, prairie dog, mouse, or more. What do you see from up here?

Hawk nests are big—3 feet across. And eagle nests can be twice that big!

Who made these nests?

These birds all nest at Bluff Lake.
Look for them as you explore today.

Bullock's oriole nest
(hanging from a branch)

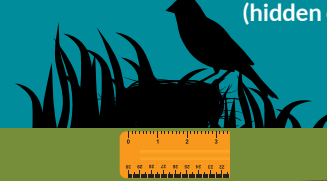

Red-winged blackbird nest
(built into marsh cattails)

Red-tailed hawk nest (in the top of a tall tree)

Lark bunting nest
(hidden on the ground)
